The Working Alone Safety Solution

If your "Working Alone Safety plan" is your administrator calling your lone worker every couple of hours then you may be paying and risking too much!

Consider the costs involved to protect one employee internally

- Hourly wage for receptionist/administrator that checks on the lone worker: $15 per hour
- Time to make 1 phone call to check on lone worker: 5 minutes
(discussion about weather, kids, what they did last night usually occurs)
- Number of calls per work day: 4 calls per day are made to check on one employee

Internal costs add up

4 calls x 5 min = 20 minutes per day

20 minutes x 20 working days in a month = 400 minutes per month

400 minutes = 6.67 hours per month

6.67 hours per month x $15 = $100.05 per month spent checking on one lone worker

CheckMate saves you money and gives you peace of mind

- CheckMate cost is fixed at $25.00 per month per lone worker.
- CheckMate includes up to 200 check-in calls per month.
- CheckMate has no set up fees or administration fees
- CheckMate has no long term contracts and only a three month minimum term.
- CheckMate is automated, so it will never forget to call.
- CheckMate doesn't have to stop doing something else important to check on a worker.
- CheckMate won't wait until after coffee break. It calls on time at your specified intervals.
- CheckMate logs all calls and outcomes for audit purposes.

Don't be caught off guard

If your receptionist forgets to call, is off sick or on holidays, no one is checking on your lone employees. You can bet that is when an accident will occur. Can you afford to take that kind of risk?
